Eisenhower Tells Hope For World Peace in '59

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower has told Russian leaders their professed desire for peace should be applied to their handling of the Berlin crisis.

He made a pointed reply in an exchange of New Year's greetings with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Klement E. Voroshilov.

Their message, delivered to Eisenhower's farm home near here, expressed hope that 1959 would see an end to "fears of the dangers of a new world war."

Two Persons Killed As Prank Backfires

SAN CARLOS, Ariz. (AP)—A senseless New Year's Day prank backfired into tragedy when a dynamite explosion killed two persons, hospitalized eight others and splintered a one-room house.

Mike Windham, criminal investigator for the Indian Bureau, said partygoers at a San Carlos Reservation wooden frame house were tossing lighted dynamite sticks out the door. He gave this account:

Deb Hinton, 27, a miner, brought home some dynamite from a nearby mine. A holiday group of 10 Indians jammed Hinton's small house for a party. After midnight, they started tossing the dynamite.

One of the lighted sticks dropped into a box containing other sticks, setting off the blast.

Hinton and his sister, Mrs. Nona Peaches, 17, were killed.

Five of the injured were in critical condition. Several had limbs blown off or so badly mangled they had to be amputated. All were blinded, at least temporarily. Hospitalized were:

The dead man's brother, Sam; his wife, Gloria, 26; a sister, Manuella, 19; Sam Hinton's wife, Frieda and their unidentified infant child sex unknown; Norbert Dennis and McGillis Malow.

Death Toll Mounts On Nation's Roads

By The Associated Press

Traffic	146
Fires	25
Miscellaneous	37
Total	208

Hazardous weather conditions were blamed today for a sharp rise in the nation's New Year holiday traffic death toll.

The death toll rate was running ahead of the record total of 409 set in the four-day New Year holiday of 1956-57. It also was at a faster clip than the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 390 deaths for the 102-hour period.

Traffic deaths last year, estimated at 37,000 by the council, averaged about 101 a day. But the slaughter on the highways since the start of the New Year holiday count at 6 p. m. local time Wednesday topped the daily traffic toll in 1958. The count continues until midnight Sunday.

"The weather is bad and the toll is bad," the council said. "The toll is proceeding at an alarming rate. We appeal to every driver to realize that he must hold his speed down and be doubly careful."

Snow, sleet and rain in many sections of the country added to the normal heavy holiday travel Thursday and deaths took a sharp upturn after a comparatively safe start. Treacherous driving conditions were reported in many areas, especially in the Midwest and East. Local blizzard conditions added to the traffic hazards in the high plains and upper Mississippi Valley.

A council spokesman said if the rate of deaths reported Thursday continued, traffic fatalities for the holiday period will exceed 400.

In the one-day New Year's celebration last year, 160 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents. That was the highest total on record for a one-day observance of the New Year holiday.

The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, made a survey during a non-holiday period and counted 341 traffic deaths, 106 killed in fires and 105 fatally injured in miscellaneous accidents. The period covered 102 hours from 6 p. m. Wednesday Dec. 10 to midnight Dec. 14, the same length as the extended holiday weekend.

In one of the worst New Year's Day accidents, six members of a La Porte, Ind., family were killed in the crash of a single engine plane in a farm field near Pontiac, Ill. They were en route home from a vacation in California.

Mishap Fatal To 3rd Person

Cleveland Driver Is Latest Victim

A traffic mishap Monday on Rt. 62, two miles north of Salem, which previously took the lives of two persons, claimed its third victim Thursday at 8:20 a. m. in the Central Clinic.

Walter Cook, 38, of Cleveland, the latest fatality, was one of the drivers. He had sustained a crushed chest.

His wife, Colleen, 26, succumbed Tuesday at 8:41 p. m. in the Central Clinic.

The other driver, Nicholas J. Burton, 54, of Youngstown, was killed almost instantly.

In fair condition in the hospital is the Cooks' orphaned son, Merlin, 11, who sustained a head injury and laceration of the eye.

Another occupant of the Cook auto, Robert Ferguson, 8, a stepson, was treated at the hospital for a laceration of the forehead.

State highway patrolmen said the mishap occurred as Cook, driving south on Rt. 62, attempted to pass an auto operated by George R. Marzolf, 23, of Saline, Mich. Burton attempted to stop his northbound car, but it careened sideways in the road as he applied the brakes and was struck broadside by Cook's car.

Marzolf's auto was sideswiped by the other two, but he was not injured.

Two passengers in his auto, Arlene Marzolf, 22, of Saline and Marilyn Bradley, 24, of North Georgetown, also escaped injury.

Eastern Begins Limited Service

American Still Shut For Fourteenth Day

By The Associated Press

Eastern Air Lines readied some of its planes today for limited north-south service in the wake of a 38-day strike by flight engineers. American Airlines remained shut down for the 14th day by a pilots' walkout.

The first inbound Eastern plane at Idlewild Airport—from Miami—was due to arrive shortly before 1 p. m. The first hourbound flight to Miami was set for 2:30 p. m.

About 30 flights were scheduled for today with hopes that full service would be restored by next week.

Some 16,000 Eastern employees prepared to go back to their jobs as the line signed a New Year's Eve peace pact with its engineers, and came to an understanding Thursday night with the Air Line Pilots Assn.

Eastern engineers and machinists walked out Nov. 24, grounding the line's 188 planes. Agreement was reached later with the mechanics, but they respected picket lines maintained by the engineers.

The engineers refused to accede to a company request to take jet pilot training. In place of requiring pilot training for the engineers, Eastern announced it will have three pilots on each of its jets. These will be in addition to the engineer.

The last stumbling block to re-summing service was removed when Eastern and its pilots signed an agreement which assured the pilots their rights would not suffer from the new contract with the engineers.

The new engineers' contract provisions also provides a new wage scale for DC8 jet airliners, including $1,377 a month for senior flight engineers and 3/4 per cent to be paid into a new pension fund.

American Airlines pilots struck Dec. 19 in a demand for higher pay, shorter hours, and compensation for nonflying time away from home. Top pilots' wages at American has been $1,602 a month.

Salem Fabricating Co. Newest Industry Here

The Salem Fabricating and Machine Co., a newly-incorporated firm allied with the Electric Furnace Co., began operations today in the manufacturing quarters previously used by the shop departments of the furnace company.

K. U. Wirtz, president of the Salem Fabricating and Machine Co. and also of Electric Furnace, said the new firm will operate a general job shop, specializing in structural iron and machine work.

The new company has purchased from the Electric Furnace the inventory, machinery and equipment formerly used in Electric Furnace's manufacturing operations. It will occupy, by lease, the manufacturing space on W. Wilson St., now used by the shop departments of furnace company.

Mr. Wirtz explained that a continuing trend toward export sales, which has greatly altered the balance between engineering and manufacturing, has made it desirable to diversify the product line manufactured in the plant and has indicated the desirability of forming an organization responsible for obtaining outside manufacturing contracts to supplement furnace work which may, in the future, be manufactured on subcontract by Salem Fabricating and Machine Co. for the Electric Furnace Co.

Rebel Chief Hopes To Install Urrutia

HAVANA (AP) — With Cuba virtually in his hands, rebel leader Fidel Castro today triumphantly proclaimed his native Santiago as the nation's provisional capital and named Manuel Urrutia as provisional president.

While Castro's success in his 25-month-old rebellion seemed close to complete, he still must bring his oft-proclaimed choice to Havana and install him in the presidential palace from which dictator Fulgencia Batista fled Thursday.

To install Urrutia in the capital, Castro ordered a mass public demonstration in Havana's Central Park at 4 p. m. today.

The country will remain in a state of paralysis from a general strike ordered by Castro until Urrutia takes over in Havana.

Castro spoke just before dawn to a huge crowd in Santiago, the capital of easternmost Oriente province, after a parade of orators had hailed his leadership and his selection of Urrutia.

Castro said the road to Santiago, occupied Thursday after the defending garrison surrendered, had been a long and hard one. He called Santiago "the strongest fortress of the revolution" and said its triumph was being crowned by making it the provisional capital for some 12 hours, until he and Urrutia go to Havana.

Castro's supporters controlled all communications and every radio broadcast referred to Urrutia as "provisional president of Cuba."

Former President Carlos Prío Socarras, an exile in Miami since Batista ousted him by military coup in 1952, arrived meanwhile in Havana. Prío has supported Castro's revolt from exile. He and all other revolutionary organizations recently agreed to accept Urrutia as provisional president.

There was little doubt that this island republic would accept Urrutia, a former judge about 56 years old who long has been Castro's choice to succeed Batista until free elections can be held.

Cuban General Strike Is Effectuated

Castro called a general strike across Cuba until Urrutia was installed. The strike seemed 100 per cent effective, thus removing any question of remnants from the Batista regime trying to run the country.

Castro was still in Santiago, the capital of easternmost Oriente province and birthplace of his battle against Batista. Celebrations of his victory continued there all night.

Until Urrutia takes over in Havana, Castro's announcements from Santiago provided the only framework of government. Men he designated were giving orders to Cuba's armed forces and police. Castro supporters held Havana under tight control—virtually martial law—today after victory celebrations Thursday led to violence.

Castro, a lawyer who has been a rebel for more than a third of his 32 years, outlined his platform. It included nationalization of U. S. financed and operated utilities, splitting up American-owned sugar estates among the peasants, confiscation of all properties acquired through corrupt government and breaking the hold of some big businessmen on Cuba's economy.

The bearded guerrilla warrior has denied Batista's charges that he is a Communist or is Communist-influenced. Castro says his goal is to end corruption, establish democracy and help the small man among the 6,400,000 people of this Pennsylvania-sized island.

Castro and Urrutia were expected to make a triumphal entry into Havana.

The capital quieted down Thursday night after an orgy of celebration, looting and retaliation against supporters of Batista. Three policemen and 10 looters were reported killed.

There was no indication that any of the 12,000 Americans in Havana had been harmed. The State Department said in Washington it had no plans for evacuating U. S. citizens.

With the Havana International Airport closed and cruise ships avoiding the city, however, the U. S. Embassy announced a ship was on the way from Key West to take home stranded tourists.

Batista Flees to Dominican Republic

Batista gave up the presidency and fled to the Dominican Republic early Thursday. His family and scores of his top officials departed hastily with him or in planes and boats for the United States.

Batista said he was quitting to save Cuba from further bloodshed.

Castro sought to restore order as soon as possible, but to stop bloodshed and to protect Cuba's normally prosperous economy. Sugar and sugar products make up 75 per cent of national exports and the cane grinding season is at hand.

To head the armed forces, Castro appointed Col. Ramon Barquin, who had just been released from a Batista prison with 700 other political prisoners. Barquin broadcast an appeal from the military headquarters at nearby Camp Columbia for the people of Havana and the nation to remain peacefully in their homes.

There were reports that some army units might resist Castro's advance to Havana from Santiago. Prospects for resistance seemed to be dimming hourly, however.

There was no indication of continued fighting anywhere in Cuba between Batista's 7,000 troops and the rebels.

The sudden collapse of Batista apparently resulted from the first major battle of the rebellion. Three columns of rebels who previously had risked only hit-and-run raids and small battles launched an attack last weekend on Santa Clara. Batista had to hold this vital road and rail center in the middle of Cuba to maintain ground contact with the eastern end of the island.

The president threw tanks, warplanes, artillery and reinforced infantrymen into the battle against rebel foot soldiers. By New Year's Eve rebel casualties were estimated by Batista's regime at 3,000 dead and wounded. The government said it had suffered 1,000 or more casualties.

These losses caused Batista to decide to give up. He was in danger of having the army turn on him, rather than continue to suffer such casualties.

Dame Fortune Slept Through These Mishaps

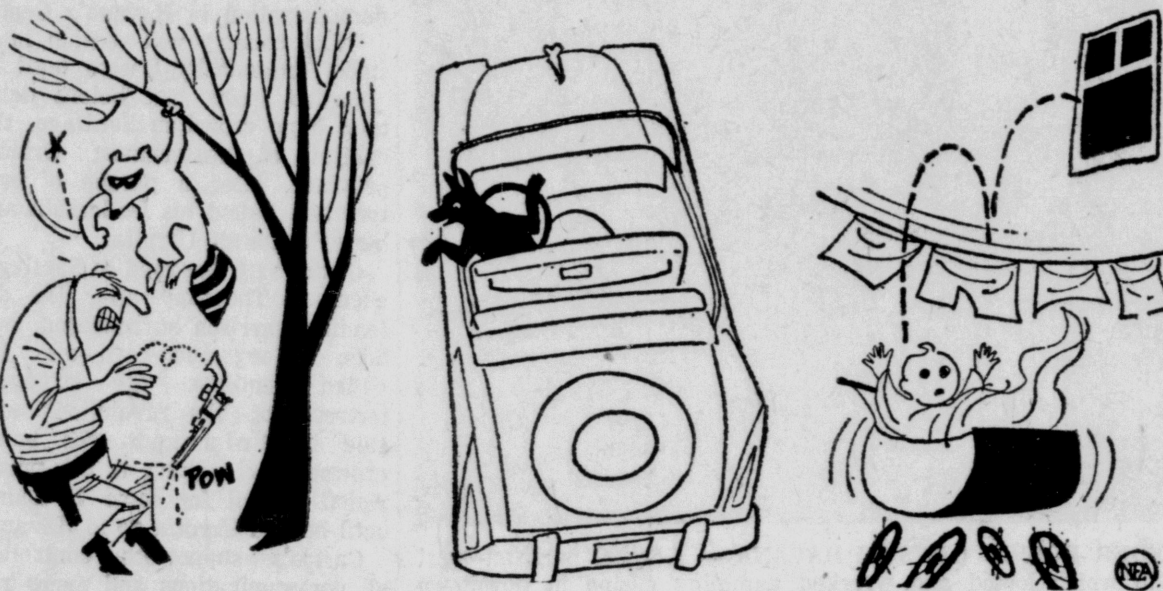

Strange accidents that "just couldn't happen"—but did—were recorded in the 1957 roundup compiled by the National Safety Council. Some of the goofy things that happened to people are illustrated, below, in a collection of cockeyed catastrophes more embarrassing than tragic.

BOILING MAD couldn't describe the feelings of young Robert Golden of Newport Ky. He was standing near the kitchen stove when a bullet rolled off the shelf into a pot of boiling water and exploded. Robert was shot near the rear burner.

IN MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Harold Dukes was showing his 6-year-old daughter how to really swing one of those hula hoops. The instructions abruptly were postponed while he recuperated in the hospital from a dislocated backbone.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. neighbors figured at last they could tell apart identical young twins Richard and Robert Galloway while Robert wore a cast on his broken arm. Then his brother got identical plaster casts.

TURNABOUT is fair play, as any raccoon will tell you. So when Leslie Meserve fired at one in Hollis, Maine, the ring-tail came down from his tree and bopped the hunter on the head. Meserve accidentally discharged his pistol, shooting himself.

WILLIAM ZARING of Indianapolis, Ind., was taken aback when he saw a neighbor's auto driving in reverse over his nice, green lawn. He stopped the car and barked at the driver. Understandably, the driver, the neighbor's dog, barked right back.

A YEAR-OLD, bouncing baby girl from Chicago wins the grayhairs - to - mother award. Judith DeHaan topped from a second story window, bounced on a clothesline and landed right-side-up in her own baby buggy which was parked below.

Atomic Technician Killed by Radiation

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — A medical expert says a technician killed by radiation in a Los Alamos atomic laboratory died from damage to his central nervous system.

He also says it may have been the first death of that type outside of war.

Dr. Thomas Shipman, head of the health division of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, says it was more than damage to the bone marrow-blood forming system that caused the death.

Cecil W. Kelley, 38, who had worked in the atomic laboratory about 11 years, died Thursday, 36 hours after the accident.

He was preparing a process to extract plutonium and said all he recalled was a flash as he started a stir operation in a tank.

Shipman said he believes that "outside of warfare, this may be the first death" of this type.

"I think it is, other than the bomb casualties in Japan," he said. Those were the deaths caused by the atomic bombing of Nagasaki and Hiroshima, which ended World War II.

Ohio's Highway Patrol Collected Record Fees

COLUMBUS (AP) — Speaking of 1958 records. The State Highway Patrol collected an all-time high in fines and bond forfeitures—$2,641,482. That topped the previous record, set in 1957, by $1,077,000.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports 45 per cent of the fines—$1,188,667—went to the state's highway maintenance and repair fund. The other 55 per cent was kept by local governments.

GRANT RECEIVED
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University has announced receipt of a $166,000 grant from the National Science Foundation (NSF) to complete a giant radio telescope near Delaware, Ohio.

The 360-foot long instrument, half completed and expected to be operating in 1960, will be employed in a variety of research projects in the field of radio astronomy. It was the NSF's third contribution toward the project, for a total of $272,000 to match Ohio State's $22,000.

A seaman in the Spanish-American War, Horn had been active in the USWV for 45 years and in 1957 was named Cuyahoga County's outstanding veteran. Funeral services will be Monday at 1:30 p.m.

RECORD REPORTED
CLEVELAND (AP) — A record 412 foreign-flag ships called at this Lake Erie port in the shipping season ended last month, Miss Albina R. Cermak, U. S. collector of customs, reported. That compared with 299 in 1957. The number of Canadian vessels docking here also was up—284 compared with 240 in the previous year.

Manned Rocket Said To Have Advantages

COLUMBUS Ohio (P)—A navigation expert says there is little chance of a manned rocket becoming lost in outer space if it could manage to carry all the standard navigation aids now available.

Furthermore, says Arthur S. Cosler Jr., such a manned rocket could reach the moon or a planet if its course in flight could be corrected.

The chances are slim, however, that a ballistic shot could accomplish the same thing, he believes.

An unmanned missile has to rely on pre-determined calculations of interplanetary distance to hit its target, and man's knowledge of such distance is not exact, Cosler asserts.

Cosler is executive director of Ohio State University's mapping and charting research laboratory. The lab is currently conducting a research project for the Air Force on navigation techniques for flights into outer space.

Sidewalk Scrawls

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk scrawls of a Pavement Plato: As a new year dawns in the world after a record American food crop, more and more thoughtful minds turn toward the problem of overpopulation.

From a domestic angle the situation seems to be that we don't have the appetite to eat what we produce.

From an international angle the problem seems partly to be that the food we volunteer doesn't please the peoples' appetite—and they express their discontent by having more and more children.

Both the rich and the poor countries are having the same problem: No matter what they eat, or don't eat, they produce more children.

The globe is being inundated by a tidal wave of posterity. It is as if people, everywhere, confused by the responsibility of the moment, pass on through their genes the payment of tomorrow.

It is, economically speaking, as if a generation that created inflation in its time also inflated its posterity to water down the individual bill. Who can win in the race to see who has the weakest money and the most poor mouths?

Scientists, like a pack of hounds, bell tongue in cry after the elusive fox, truth.

They will catch him, too. But not today—tomorrow.

Meanwhile, ordinary people pay the price of ordinary living, chase a smaller fox, stun one another with personal wonder, and live by a personal star they discovered together, the one big star in the sky no lovers ever shared before.

The atomic cloud darkens. The statesmen and diplomats and politicians argue. They frighten each other. They spend more money to build more bombs. The value of the currency is inflated. People brood over their bills and brooding leads to—well, doesn't it?

Nobody is afraid of yesterday, nobody is afraid of tomorrow. Who will shoulder today?

ATOMIC ERA LANDMARK—Sixteen years after the first controlled nuclear chain reaction was achieved at the University of Chicago in December, 1942, a new type of "package" reactor has been dedicated at Idaho Falls, Idaho. Known as the Argonne Low Power Reactor, it is the prototype of a power source for remote military installations. Use of air for cooling instead of water makes it adaptable for isolated, water-limited areas. It will operate for three years without refueling and is easily portable by cargo planes. The Idaho Falls installation, designed by Argonne National Laboratory for the Atomic Energy Commission, will be used to operate radar equipment and to train personnel.

Plans to Complete South Bypass

Salem may never get the north relief route that was planned several years ago, but from all indications the south traffic relief route from the Lisbon Road to the Damascus Road will be finished.

Relocation of U. S. Route 62 close to Salem, as has been indicated by state highway officials, would eliminate the need of a north bypass.

The situation is different to the south, however. This projected Route 45 bypass was started in 1952 when the Pidgeon Road was improved from the Lisbon Road west to Depot. A year later the Depot Road was widened from the township line north to the Salem corporate limits. Then the county extended the Pidgeon Road west to Newgarden Road by cutting through an entirely new highway.

Columbiana County Engineer Charles Snyder and city officials had hoped that the state, with additional federal aid, would continue the south bypass northward and intersect Routes 62 and 14 at Pine Ave. and the Benton Road.

William Quicksall, retiring engineer in charge of State Highway Division 11, told the Mayor's Highway Committee and the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee here Tuesday, that the Ohio Highway Department has given tentative approval to plans to complete the south bypass by building a new road west from the Pidgeon-Depot Road intersection. This would be south of the extension built by the county and would provide a wider arc around the southwest section of Salem, thus skirting the city completely.

According to Mr. Quicksall, this extension would entail less right-of-way in residential areas and thus would lessen costs.

Although not pinpointed exactly, its eventual junction with Route 62 would be on the Damascus Road, instead of the intersection of Pine and the Benton Road.

Regardless of which plan is followed, the south relief route ought to be spurred to completion and the state's indication that it is pegged for the 1959-61 biennium is encouraging.

It may be that the city of Salem will get highway improvements both to the north and the south without having to spend a dime. Who could ask for more?

On a Demonstration by Hoffa

It will be important in 1959 to remember that James R. Hoffa, symbol of the Teamsters Union, has landed in the middle of something even bigger than he thinks he is as leader of the country's biggest union.

Before Hoffa it was Dave Beck who was the symbol. And before Beck the symbol was Danie J. Tobin. The peculiar strength of the Teamsters Union, though it has been developed systematically and ruthlessly by a succession of strong men, is derived from its power to slow down the motion of the national economy. The union's strength has been multiplied by an increasing rate of motion and increasing dependency on motion in general.

It is small wonder that Tobin, Beck and now Hoffa have been notorious for ruthlessness in tactics; they were exposed to extraordinary temptation by the potentialities of their power. Years ago, when railroads were more powerful than they are now in competition with trucks, airplanes and passenger automobiles, their susceptibility to ruthless union leadership was modified by the Railway Labor Act.

This is the prospect that looms ahead as the Teamsters make known the terms on which they may be willing to let the United States exist, if it will accommodate itself to their views on mass unionism. Each ultimatum, each overt move, each inconvenience to the public brings closer the showdown between the sovereign people and the militant minority that is demonstrating its power.

The people were patient with the trusts and monopolies that preyed on them in the 19th century. They have been patient with the unions that are preying on them in the 20th century. They have let themselves be pushed around and poked in the eye by muscle-men in the belief that this was necessary to protect the rights of workers.

But it always has been the history of power that it runs itself into the ground if it goes unchecked. This is the fateful time for power in the hands of a symbolic Hoffa.

One of his agents has announced that on Jan. 12 Teamsters pickets will begin to teach the police commissioner of New York City a lesson by isolating him and his staff in police headquarters. They will demonstrate that they are more powerful than the entire police force of the largest city in the United States.

That should clear up any lingering doubts about the potentialities of the Teamsters Union if it cannot be made answerable to the sovereign people who have made its existence and its massive power possible.

And what is the lesson the New York City police commissioner is going to be taught? Simply this: No one, not even a police commissioner, can keep the Teamsters Union from organizing and dominating policemen and other public employees anywhere in the United States.

Californians Play With An Idea

The San Francisco Chronicle, a newspaper humor, reports that a poll has shown majority favor for splitting California into two states.

The dividing line would be the Tehachapi Mountains, traditional boundary between northern and southern California. But the actual division would be over two states of mind — the San Francisco state and the Los Angeles state.

In the search for a name for the new state, if it ever did split off, Los Angeles — which is essentially a state of mind anyway — might be the proper title. It would then be the state of California vs. Los Angeles, a state of mind.

This is not likely to happen — no likelier than it is that Ohio would divide itself between northeastern and southwestern Ohio, or that New York would split itself into upper New York and New York City. Nor will Michigan split between the Upper Peninsula and Central Michigan, or Maryland between the mainland and the Eastern Shore.

All states have divisive elements, some more than others. The Chronicle, evidently with a thought of mischief, merely has revealed what many Californians resent and nearly everybody is aware of. There is a schism in their midst, and they can't conceal it. If it were as easy as taking a poll, they'd get rid of it, but of course it isn't that easy.

And Still Growing

There has been every indication that Salem's population was on the rise, but it was not until the recent Ohio Department of Health statistics were announced that Salem could count themselves 14,435 strong.

That's a gain of 1,681 over the last official census in 1950, giving Salem the distinction of being the fastest-growing of the four cities in Columbiana County.

Many things account for this but the great diversification of stable industries, it must be admitted, is a prime factor. Among the finest of any U. S. community, Salem will continue to expand in the years to come. The year 1959 presents a real challenge for further advancement.

By H. I. Phillips to do something to it that will influence railroad station porters, taxi drivers and bellhops to accept it without a protest.

"What design changes do you have in mind?"

"Well, first of all the eagle is the wrong bird for a coin of such low-flying potentials. I favor the clipped-wing pigeon. George Washington's face is no longer proper.

"George stood for stability, attainment of an objective and reliability in the pinches. Most Americans now regard the quarter as just for laughs. We might replace Washington with George Gobel."

WE ASKED if there was any truth to a story a new quarter would carry such inscriptions as "This coin goes no further," "Good for one admission to any Post Office or "Can be exchanged for one glass of beer." The man said it might be a good idea at that.

NEW YEAR GREETING TO MOM AND POP

Happy New Year, mother dear,
Weak from Yuletide toi, I fear;
Through the year my warmest wishes.
Maybe I'll help with the dishes.
Popper, during fifty-nine
Happiness all down the line;
Fun and ease as you sail through it...
It's a good trick if you do it.

THIS MUST BE about the time when Mrs. Kris Kringle finding him still in bed in a total state of exhaustion asks, "Tell me, is there a Santa Claus?"

A friend of ours got a dog for Christmas and the pooch has him almost trained already.

Right Under His Very Nose

Review of 1958

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The little guy, any little guy going home yesterday, looked back on 1958 and could hardly see it. It wasn't much of a year, a kind of ho-hum year, a real second-rater, as years ago.

Nothing was settled. It was a kind of in-between year, full of things left over to be settled later. It was like a boy carrying a bunch of packages from 1957 to 1959.

He had mixed feelings about it, and about himself too: both glad and uneasy.

When the recession hit, it was like being missed by lightning. Millions of guys lost their jobs but he kept his. He knew a recession is like lightning. It would hit again some time. Next time it might not miss him.

There was something to be uneasy about. Not too uneasy, but a little unsure, like all the times on the way to work when he wondered if he had put out that last cigarette before he left the house.

There was one thing didn't make him happy: it was the feeling that in the whole year he should have done more with his life. Maybe he could have done better if he were smarter, or thought harder. Balance.

He had this same feeling of time being wasted at the end of every year. No reason to this was the way he was; he had no illusions! He had realized long ago he'd never set the world afire. So why feel disappointed?

He knew he felt smaller in 1958 than in any year of his life, and the world looked bigger. He felt less and less a part of things, more and more left out. It was easy to tell when that started with him.

It was in the fall of 1957 when the Russians sent their first Sputnik up. It was like being thrown bodily into a new world and he was unprepared for it. He had spent his whole life earthbound, looking down, not up.

The Sputniks were like a can-opener: they lifted the lid on a whole new world over his head and men were talking of sailing out into it, to the moon and even to the planets beyond.

All of a sudden scientists were the princes of the new order, the guides to the future, the magicians of time and space. He wished his kids would fit into the new world coming, better than he knew he'd ever be able to.

He told himself: "You sound a little phony, moaning about all you don't know about space and rockets and things like that. How much do you know about what's going on around you down here?"

It was a good question. He knew he wouldn't get high marks on that one either. There were too many things happening in too many ways and in too many places for him to know more than just little pieces.

Politics, for instance. He knew American politics pretty well. He could spot a big mouth in an empty head as fast as the next guy. What about economics? He was glad there was no one around to pin him down on economics. But then even the economists themselves never seemed to agree. So he felt he could sound off on prices and wages without sounding too bad.

But he really bogged down when he began thinking of what went on between the United States, and the Soviet Union, and Red China, and other countries. Then he didn't know what to think.

Was anybody — say the United States or the Soviet Union — getting ahead of anybody? He knew all the talking, all the dickering, was just preparation for something. He didn't know. Maybe he'd never know in his lifetime.

He was living better than he had ever lived. He liked to think it would always be like that: better every year. Not so much for himself. For his kids. He didn't know. He couldn't be sure.

All he knew, when he reached his house this New Year's Eve and went inside, it wasn't so much like closing a door on a year as it was like closing a door on just another day.

Adversity Comes Later

By TRUMAN TWILL

The first 1959 seed catalog and my first touch of the flu have arrived simultaneously. It would be nice to report that they cancel each other, or that the wistful hopes inspired by the catalog blank out the throbbing misery of the flu.

But that would be a lie, and there's no use lying about anything so commonplace as flu or seed catalogs. Both we still have with us always, so it is better to be candid.

The catalog and the flu are symbols of the basic elements of life—the hope that springs eternal and the adversity that keeps upsetting the best laid plans of mice, men and missile experts.

A year ago, when the catalog came, I fired back an order for a special kind of grass seed and all the newest varieties of zinnias. That was hope that springs eternal.

The grass and the zinnias both came up in due time, when the weather warmed up late in May. But only one zinnia seed in five germinated because of unseasonably wet weather in June, which made it necessary to replant and transplant until the summer was half gone. By late August the zinnias were reasonably gorgeous and no one remembered how much work had gone into them, except me. Then, overnight, in an early frost they were blitzed — and that was that.

The grass, on the other hand, came up 150 per cent. Every seed germinated, and half the seeds must have twinned. There was grass up to here on a long-legged dog — beautiful, thick, green, uncuttable grass.

The first time the power mower hit the stuff, it sounded as if a bearing had burned out. At top speed, the mower would groan to a stall after two feet. It was like trying to chew steel wool.

The lush green carpet defied every attempt to mow it all summer. The only contraption that made any impression was the big rotary mower which pulled up the tough stuff by the roots and bent it so it didn't look quite so tall.

There finally comes a time in a man's life when a seed catalog in the middle of the winter can be resisted — when even the colored illustration of a tomato makes a shut-in think of tomato worms, perspiration, sacro-illiac sprains and red spiders.

Justice for Some

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Government Protects Labor Leaders

If you are a labor leader and violate a court order, you may have to pay a fine but the Department of Justice asks the court not to send you to prison.

If you are a businessman and violate a court order, or if you are the businessman's secretary merely carrying out his instructions, the Department of Justice says nothing one way or the other, and the court sentences you both to jail.

This is certainly not "equal protection of the laws" and yet it's what has just happened in a criminal contempt case in Boston where, without benefit of a jury trial, an arbitrary and unusual punishment has been inflicted upon Bernard Goldfine and his secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman. The complied with the court order but were just a few days late.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, was convicted of criminal contempt in 1946, and Judge Goldsborough of the U.S. District Court fined him $10,000 but, at the request of the Department of Justice, no prison sentence was imposed.

THE OFFENSE was the violation of a court order demanding that there be no interference with the operations of the coal mines which the government had seized. It was alleged that the labor leader had encouraged the workers to refrain from going to their jobs. The Supreme Court of the United States in 1947 upheld the conviction.

Persons familiar with tax cases say they cannot recall a single instance of a jail sentence being imposed in a criminal contempt case charging failure to get income tax data into the hands of the Internal Revenue Office on the date demanded in a court order.

The whole subject of criminal contempt presents a shocking record of special privilege and favoritism. Congress, by law, has given labor unions certain immunities in criminal contempt cases. For one thing, jury trials are now required whenever there is disobedience of any injunction in a labor dispute.

Congress struggled with the subject in 1957 and came up with a law providing for a new trial by a jury in criminal contempt cases in the "civil rights" field whenever the punishment imposed by a judge, after a trial without a jury, is in excess of a $500 fine or in excess of a 45-day prison sentence.

But this, too, is an example of unequal application of the laws. For, if these privileges are available to some citizens, they should naturally apply to other citizens in all cases of criminal contempt. Mr. Goldfine's sentence is for a term in excess of 45 days.

THE CONSTITUTION is explicit on the matter of jury trials. It says in two different articles:

"The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury. . . .

"In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury. . . ."

Why is the Constitution being violated? Largely because most American lawyers and judges have accepted the English common law practice on criminal contempt as an unwritten part of the American Constitution.

Perhaps the most notable protest ever made against this continued injustice came from three members of the present Supreme Court in March 1958. It happened in a 5-to-4 decision, as Justice Black in a dissent, concurred in by Chief Justice Warren and Justice Douglas, wrote:

"The power of a judge to inflict punishment for criminal contempt by means of a summary usurping stands as an anomaly in the law. In my judgement the time has come for a fundamental and searching reconsideration of the validity of this power which has aptly been characterized by a state Supreme Court as, 'perhaps, nearest akin to despotic power of any power existing under our form of government.'"

"Even though this extraordinary authority first slipped into the law as a very limited and insignificant thing, it has relentlessly swollen, at the hands of not unwilling judges, until it has become a drastic and pervasive mode of administering criminal justice usurping our regular constitutional methods of trying those charged with offenses against society. . . .

"NO OFFICIAL, regardless of his position or the purity and nobleness of his character, should be granted such autocratic omnipotence. . . .

"Judges are not essentially different from other government officials. Fortunately they remain human even after assuming their judicial duties. Like all the rest of mankind they may be affected from time to time by pride and passion, by pettiness and bruised feelings, by improper understanding or by excessive zeal. . . .

"When the responsibilities of law-maker, prosecutor, judge, jury and disciplinarian are thrust upon a judge he is obviously incapable of holding the scales of justice perfectly fair and true and reflecting impartiality on the guilt or innocence of the accused. He truly becomes the judge of his own cause. The defendant charged with criminal contempt is thus denied what I had always thought to be an indispensable element of due process of law—an objective, scrupulously impartial tribunal to determine whether he is guilty or innocent of the charges filed against him."

No more persuasive statement in favor of jury trials in criminal contempt cases has come from anyone else on the Supreme Court, and it may mark a turning point in nearly 150 years of disregard of the basic command of the Constitution that "in all criminal prosecutions" there should be the right to trial by jury.

Noble Experiment

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The start Thursday of Europe's noble experiment — the Common Market — holds American business attention on two grounds:

1. The extra competitive advantage European goods may have over American in world markets, if European efficiency increases as expected.

2. The tempting European market itself whose remaining trade barriers against American goods might be got around by more American investment in plants there.

U. S. concerns already having plants there or thinking of building them have plenty of problems: government fiscal policies, getting raw materials, currency policies — now largely removed by the new convertibility rulings — and European labor laws.

But there is one other — the U. S. government's own policy on taxing earnings made on American investments abroad.

The Common Market is made up of France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg. Slowly it will lower the tariff barriers between these six lands themselves. In time it plans to end all such levies and to keep a common tariff against goods from the outside.

This would be very much like the trade conditions here: no tariff barrier between individual states, and a common tariff on certain goods from abroad.

Since Germany, for example, starting Thursday will be able to sell goods in any of the other five member nations without paying as high a tariff as American manufacturers, it gives them a new reason for making their goods in plants in one of the six nations.

And the market is growing fast — and has even greater potentials. The six, for instance, have almost as many people as the United States. But they produce only a third as many autos, half as many trucks, a third as much electric power.

The U. S. government has been urging American corporations and individuals to invest abroad.

But Americans profiting from such investments must report them here to be taxed by the U. S. government. Many American industrialists hold that investment abroad could be speeded up if this policy were changed.

THE SALEM NEWS

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

On runways across the land grounded planes are evidence that a vast multi-million dollar civilian war has started. Before it is over, sometime in 1960, hundreds of millions of dollars in profits and many a union treasury will be wiped out.

The airline strikes which have made the industrial atmosphere so turbulent are just skirmishes in the final showdown between American business and American labor—a showdown which has been 14 years coming. After this we will be out of the post-war years.

There are at least 10 major industries in which the biggest companies, the leadership corporations, have been consulting for some two years now. They decided that this was the "wage round" in which they'd fight it out.

The commercial airline field is but one of these. It was not the first, though the airlines were the most dramatic of companies.

What dramatized their struggle with the jet jitters unions was not the romantic wild blue yonder business of daily flying but the fact that the companies banded together and agreed to make up the losses any one of the six major lines suffered in a strike. By this time they've paid a total of more than 2 1/2 million dollars to such outfits as Capital and Transworld Airlines when they were strike-bound.

THE LINES now aloft will be paying hundreds of thousands, maybe millions of dollars more, to the earthbound Eastern Airlines, for example. This is unprecedented. Just think of it; the airlines which gained from Capital's 37-day stoppage paid that company over $1,600,000. Thus it could take the strike and lose very little.

Now, as the loud speaker of the old Sampson Navy boot training station would say, hear this: The Civil Aeronautics Board soon will hold a hearing on whether these payments are legal or a technical conspiracy in violation of the federal transport and anti-trust laws. That's just what industry's strategists want. For, if it is legal, then business has devised a new type of strike insurance.

If it is illegal, however, for business to get together, from out of the executive suites of America will come a roar—why is it not illegal then for labor to band together in a joint council and strike a corporation or an industry?

INDUSTRIALISTS, who have spent many grim nights at bargaining tables, are saying to themselves and government people that labor has joint councils of as many as 50 to 60 unions inside just one corporation.

Special AFL-CIO committees are set up to raise multi-million dollar strike funds for sister unions. Why can't the businessmen do likewise?

That is what they're saying, for example, in the steel field. This industry is expecting to be hit with whopping demands to cover steelworkers from the cradle to the grave and considerable in between.

These demands will be hurled by the United Steelworkers Wage Policy Committee late in April. There have been conferences for the past months between the policy makers of the 11 biggest steel corporations. They have decided to stand pat—just as the big three of the auto industry did last summer.

THERE HAVE been similar private parleys in the hard coal fields, and in the oil, rubber, glass, electronics and railroad industries. Contracts in these areas expire anywhere from the coal men's pacts in January to the railroads' in November. You can even expect a railroad strike some time in 1960.

The industrialists are saying they've had it. The unions are saying they haven't had enough. Both sides will be pouring out millions to win this one.

For the unions, this showdown could be as costly as dropping a china piggy bank over a dark cellar grating. Strike relief can empty a union treasury.

Walter Reuther's General Motors walkouts and a few other smaller ones cost 15 million dollars in one month. There are 80,000 auto strikers out this week. The union is sending them a $10 Christmas bonus. That's $800,000 in just one day.

A long national steel strike could cost the union 25 million dollars in strike relief. Of course, company profits would vanish.

That's the spectre stalking 1959. The Hall Syndicate

Boy Scouts to Hold Winter Encampment

Boy Scouts of Columbiana Council will gather at the McKinley Scout Reservation near Lisbon this weekend for their annual polar bear encampment.

Over 300 scouts and scouters are registered for the encampment, according to Leonard McDaniel, Shawnee district scout executive.

The scouts will camp in tents. Instructions in winter camping were given several times during the fall months in preparation for the encampment.

This year's theme is the "Paul Bunyon Polar Bear Camp," and the program is centered around athletic activities of the lumberjacks in the northwestern timber country. The scouts will participate in log tossing, cliff climbing, rifle shooting and other activities, according to McDaniel.

The scouts will eat their meals in the old McKinley Stone House. A large campfire will be lit Saturday night at 9:30. Sunday morning church services for Protestants will be led by the Rev. Tom Hamerton of the Lisbon Methodist Church. Boys of Catholic faith will attend Mass at St. George's Church in Lisbon.

Camp will be broken up after the Sunday noon meal.

which definitely linked Grant with the illegal offenses.

First Lt. Walter D. Cummings of Chicago, the trial counsel who prosecuted, accused the defense of trying to "smear" the recruits called as prosecution witnesses, as well as some of their parents.

It was the prosecution's contention that Grant had pocketed the money solicited from recruits. The defense claimed the money had gone towards legitimate expenses such as laundry bills.

Consumer Is King of the Market

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE (NEA Staff Writer)

"Ever notice how products here today are gone tomorrow?" a marketing expert for one of the nation's biggest ad agencies asked me.

Frankly, I hadn't given this much thought.

"Know who makes the decisions?" he pressed for the answer then offered it: "You do!"

If you had been with me during that half hour you would have learned how businesses big and small are attuned not just to your demands, but to your whims, as well. You'd have had it demonstrated that the consumer is king, nothing spared.

"Five thousand families around the country report monthly to me on their purchases," he declared. "They tell me not only what they have bought, but where. I want to know if they buy toothpaste in the supermarket or drug or variety store. I want to know what brand they choose, what size and price line, who in the family makes the purchase. If color is involved, I want to know which color is selected."

"Another 5,000 families sample new products for me, anything from scrubbing powder to face powder. There is nothing unique about my operation; most large advertising agencies do the same," he hastened to explain. "Our customers demand this type of service."

IS THIS EMPHASIS on consumer preference new? Not at all. For many years millions of dollars have been spent annually to determine exactly what the consumer wants. But there are new twists to this research.

There is the growing conviction that modern versus obsolete marketing spelled the difference between moderate and severe profit declines of companies making a wide range of products during the recent recession.

Iowa Smashes California 38-12 in Rose Bowl Contest

Bob 'Jet' Jeter Leads Hawkeyes

LSU Tops Clemson;
Air Force, TCU Tie

Louisiana State the national football champion probably will get a strong argument over the honor from second place Iowa today in the wake of the Sugar and Rose Bowl games.

Both teams were heavily favored—LSU by 15 points over Clemson in the Sugar Bowl and Iowa by 18 over California, in the Rose Bowl. Only Iowa proved the oddsmakers correct.

The Hawkeyes scored in every period to overwhelm California, the Pacific Coast Conference king, 38-12. LSU had to call on Coach Paul Dietzel to call the play that defeated Clemson 7-0.

Oklahoma did as expected and defeated dogged Syracuse 21-6 in the Orange Bowl. Air Force pulled a mild upset in playing Southwest Conference champion Texas Christian to a 0-0 tie in a battle of fumbles and mistakes in the Cotton Bowl. Prairie View A&M wallopped Langston 34-8 in the Prairie View Bowl.

Iowa was runnerup to the Bayou Bengals in the final Associated Press poll that settled the national championship. But the Big Ten champs were not expected to have as easy a time as they did against an outweighted, outmaneuvered Cal team.

On the other hand, LSU, with its White, Go and Chinese Bands, its three-team varsity specialists, was expected to have some trouble from a hefty Clemson line, but by sheer weight of numbers, were supposed to have things their way in the end.

The Clemson line didn't weaken. A broken right hand by LSU quarterback Warren Rabb on the third play of the game put him out for the second half. These two factors weighed heavily in forcing Dietzel to revamp his offensive plans—and hope.

The wisp of hope came in the third period when Clemson center Paul Snyder got a firmer grip on some turf than on the ball on a snap-back to punter Bill Mathis. The ball sailed wildly and bounced off the knee of blocker Doug Cline. It was recovered by LSU tackle Duane Leopard on the Clemson 11.

Two plays gained only one yard and on third down All America halfback Billy Cannon, the game's most valuable player, started wide, spotted end Mickey Mangham and hit him with a pass for the score. Cannon kicked the extra point.

Dietzel admitted afterward that he called the scoring play "because Clemson was putting so much pressure on our quarterbacks when they went back to pass that I figured a halfback run-pass option would take more time." Rabb whose injury was not disclosed until halftime explained that his passing was handicapped and he was forced to abandon his wide-open offense for a ground game. He hit only two of seven passes.

Iowa never had a worry in the Rose Bowl, although they fumbled at the start. Led by Bob (Jet) Jeter, the Hawkeyes, winning their second Rose Bowl, rolled up 516 yards overall, 25 more than former recordholder Michigan in 1943 against Southern Cal.

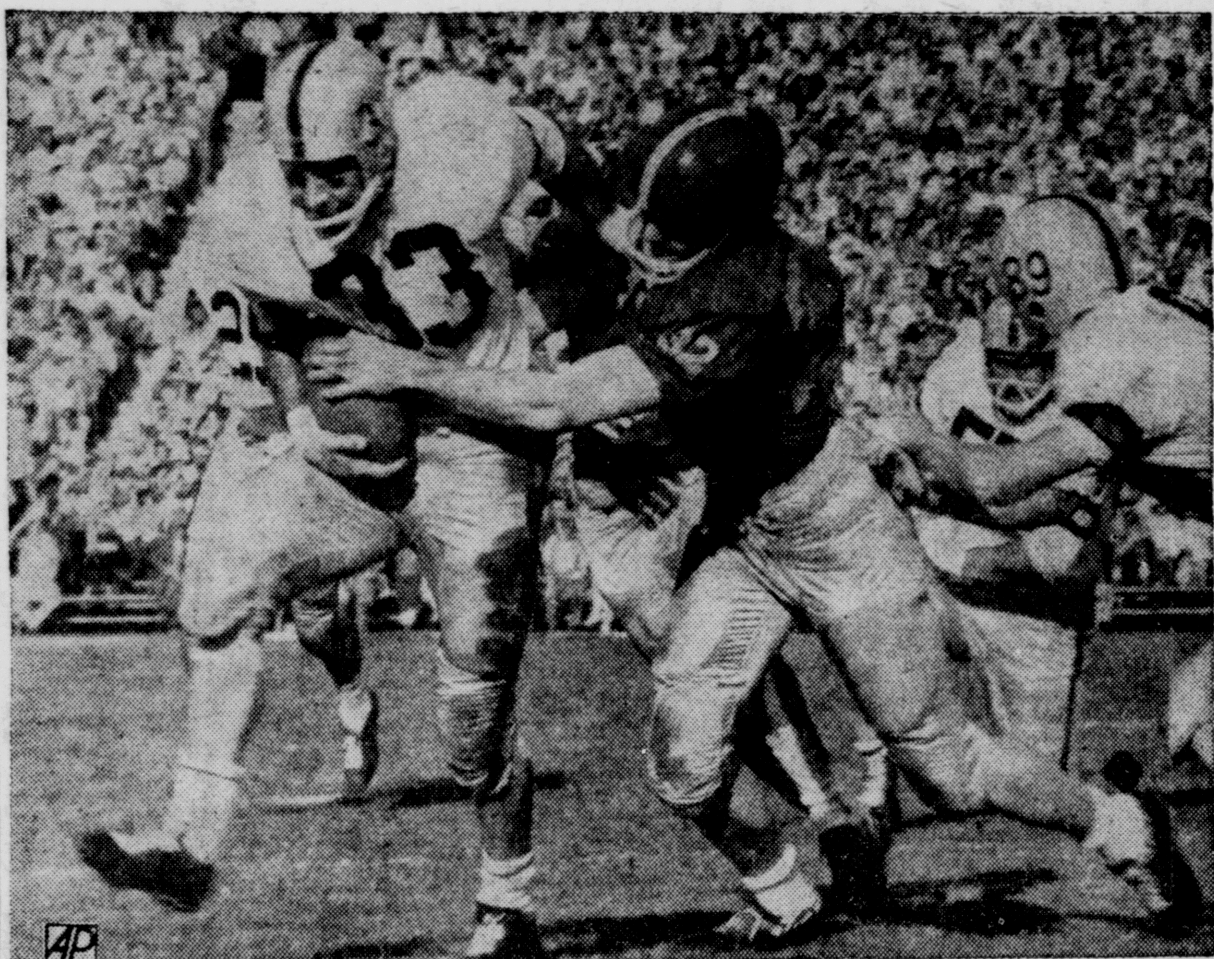

Jeter ran 81 yards for one score, breaking Northwestern's Frank Aschenbrenner's record of 71 against Cal in 1949. He also gained 194 yards overall, 43 more than Bobby Grayson of Stanford against Columbia in 1934, the previous record.

Iowa scored the second time it had the ball, and managed at least one TD per quarter against a Cal line outweighted an average of 18 pounds per man.

Coach Forest Evashevski's winning formula: "Our basic plan was to run inside and off tackle. We figured they were weak there."

Said Cal Coach Pete Elliot: We knew it was coming. . . but it's hard to block a freight train. Jack Hart scored both Cal TDs, one on a yard plunge, the other on a 17-yard pass from quarterback Joe Kapp.

Oklahoma used its blinding speed to build up a 14-0 first period lead, added another score in the third and then got pushed around for the rest of the game by a Syracuse line that didn't melt in the 78 degree heat.

NOCERA RACES TO IOWA FIRST DOWN — Youngstown's John Nocera (33), Iowa, smashes off right tackle for 10 yards and a first down on California 40-yard-line during Rose Bowl game at Pasadena. Trying for the tackle is California fullback Bill Patten (32). Don Norton (89), Iowa end, is at right.

Fullback Prentice Gault raced 42 yards on the second play of the game for the first Sooner score. Brewster Hobby combined with end Russ Coyle for a 79-yard pass play for the second TD — a new Orange Bowl record for distance, and Hobby took a punt 40 yards for the third score.

Mike Weber's 15-yard plunge in the final quarter got Syracuse, which won the battle of statistics, its TD.

There were 13 fumbles by Texas Christian and Air Force, each team losing three. TCU pushed deep into Air Force territory twice in the final minutes, but fumbles lost both opportunities. Air Force had two similar chances in the first half, and one in the second but couldn't cash in.

The Air Force's George Pupich missed three field goal tries and TCU's Jack Spikes two. Spikes was the game's leading back with 108 yards on 17 carries.

Prairie View scored four second half touchdowns to overcome an 8-6 halftime deficit. Halfback Archie Seals and fullback Jimmy Tolleston paced the winners, the national Negro collegiate champs.

The four major games were on national television and a total live audience of 331,082 sat in on 1959's first taste of college football. The largest turnout was 98,297 at the Rose, followed by the 82,000 at the Sugar, 75,504 at the Cotton and 75,281 at the Orange.

Denny Moyer Meets Ortego In 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP)—Fight fans start the New Year with look at something brand new in Denny Moyer, a 19-year-old welterweight from Portland, Ore. who has won all of his 18 pro fights.

Young Moyer, of French-Irish parentage, appears before a network (NBC) television camera for the first time tonight when he boxes sadfaced Gaspar Ortego of Mexicali, Mexico in Madison Square Garden. The 10-round match also will be carried on NBC radio, starting at 10 p.m., (EST).

It may be that Moyer, a former AAU champ, will open and close in one. On the other hand, it may be the first of many appearances in the big arenas.

Boxing certainly needs new faces badly. It can't afford to wait. However, the expert opinion that has made Ortego an 8 to 5 favorite thinks the youngster is being rushed when he is pitted against an experienced opponent who has had 62 pro fights.

Moyer has a brother, Phil, who is campaigning as middleweight. Their father, Harry, also was a pro fighter and an uncle, Tommy, is the promoter in Portland where the boys have had most of their fights.

South Favored In Senior Bowl

Cincinnati Halfback To Start for North

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A proven scoring combination helped establish the South as a touchdown favorite in Saturday's Senior Bowl football game.

In giving Coach Paul Brown's squad the edge, the oddsmakers remembered last weekend's North-South Shrine Bowl game at Miami when Buddy Humphrey of Baylor threw three scoring passes to Mississippi State's Billy Stacy.

Humphrey also tossed two other touchdown aeriels in the South's 49-20 victory in that game. He was the nation's top collegiate passer this season with 1,316 yards on 112 completions in 1958 attempts.

Humphrey and Stacy will be in Brown's offensive backfield Saturday and it'll be a big surprise if they don't try to make plenty of yardage through the air.

The other South backs are Georgia's 200-pound fullback plunger, Theron Sapp, and another husky runner, 195-pound Don Brown of Houston.

Joe Kuharich's North squad is not lacking in passers of runners either.

He plans to start Boston College's Don Allard at quarterback. Allard, first round draft choice of the Washington Redskins, threw for seven touchdowns during the season. He passed for 691 yards.

To spell him is the No. 1 quarterback of 1957, Lee Grosscup of Utah. Crosscup, first draft choice of the New York Giants, led the nation in passing yardage a year ago with 1,398.

About 38,000 are expected for the game, which will be nationally televised by NBC with a black-out within a 100-mile radius of Mobile.

Kickoff is at 2 p.m. (CST).

Round Table Makes Debut As 4-Year-Old
By The Associated Press
Round Table, the world's richest horse, makes his 4-year-old debut Saturday with his fans hoping for a better fate than befell Silky Sullivan in his first start of 1959 after a rags-to-riches-to-rags 3-year-old campaign.

The little hardhitting Round Table from Travis Kerr's stable, who boosted his earnings to $1,336,364 en route to Horse of the Year honors in 1958 goes in the $50,000 added San Carlos Handicap at Santa Anita.

For the 7-furlong race, Round Table picks up top weight of 132 pounds and gives plenty of poundage to his rivals, who are expected to number as many as eight. Such proven sprinters as Seaneen and Hillsdale get in with 115 each while Golden Notes picks up 113 and Eddie Schmidt 112.

Silky Sullivan, whose slow starts and fast finishes caught the fancy of the racing fans last year before he disappointed in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, lost a little more of his luster Thursday at Santa Anita.

Showing nothing, Silky finished sixth in a seven-horse field in a 6½ furlong race. Under Willie Shoemaker, the nation's leading jockey last year, Silky was last at the start, last at the quarter and half-mile poles fifth in the stretch and was beaten five lengths by the winner, Caronot, who paid $11.20.

Ohio State Jars BYU 100-81; Butler Edges Navy by 59-58

By The Associated Press
College basketball powers set their sights today on conference warfare following the greatest outburst of Christmas week tournament activity in the history of the game.

The hectic week of tournament jousting involved most of the leading top ten teams and rang up merry tunes on the cash registers. It also served to point up again the talent riches of the Atlantic Coast Conference, especially of North Carolina State, Dixie Classic champions, and North Carolina.

Most of the major tournament and non-tournament holiday action ended Wednesday to permit the short-pants set to celebrate the New Year in civies.

Bowdoin, beaten in its first eight starts, surprised Rutgers, 67-66, in the first round of the Downeast Classic, at Bangor, Maine. Bob Gorra's basket in the last two seconds put Bowdoin against Colby in the semifinals tonight. Colby beat Tufts 64-55. The other semifinal matchups St. Michael's, Vt. and Wesleyan.

William and Massachusetts moved into tonight's semifinals of the Springfield, Mass. College Invitational tournament. Williams avenged its only defeat of the season by trouncing Harvard, 83-67, and Massachusetts downed winless American International, 59-51. Springfield and Amherst, first round winners Wednesday play in the other semifinal.

In non-tourney intersectional contests, Butler came from behind a nine point deficit in the first half to nose out Navy, 59-58 at Indianapolis, and Ohio State raced away from crippled Brigham Young in the last 10 minutes, for a 100-81 victory at Columbus, O., despite sophomore Bob Skousen's 39 point spree for the losing Cougars.

N. C. State's victory in its own Dixie Classic which had four of the nation's top ten teams in the field—was most impressive.

The Wolfpack, on the prowl for the national title, whipped seventh-ranked, previously undefeated Michigan State, 70-61, in the championship contest. To get that far, the fifth-ranked Wolfpack edged Louisville in overtime, 67-61, then toppled Cincinnati's second-ranked Bearcats from the unbeaten ranks, 69-60.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina, which had been beaten by Michigan State, 75-58 in the semifinals, bounced back to nip Cincinnati for third place, 90-88.

To make it all the more delectable for ACC fans, Duke beat Louisville for fifth place, 57-54, and Wake Forest wallopped Yale 85-76 for seventh.

Undeclared St. Francis of Loyola Pa., and Louisiana Tech topped the other major tournaments decided Wednesday night. St. Francis surged back after blowing a 20-point lead with 16 minutes left to conquer Fordham 74-71 for the Carrousel title at Charlotte, N. C.

Louisiana Tech subdued Virginia Tech 71-66 in the overtime finale of the Gulf South Classic at Shreveport La.

In major games outside of the tournaments on New Year's Eve, Northwestern's sixth-ranking Wildcats equalled its fieldhouse scoring record in trouncing Notre Dame 102-67 and St. Louis, ranked 16th, drubbed San Francisco 60-42.

Syndicate Headed by Veeck Rumored Buyers of White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune says a syndicate headed by Bill Veeck has bought controlling interest in the Chicago White Sox but the stock sale officially was denied.

John Risney, club vice president whose wife, Dorothy, is the majority stockholder, said Thursday night: "It is not true that the sale has been made. Negotiations still are going on."

Roy Egan, Comiskey attorney and a member of the board of directors, also denied completion of the sale.

"If anybody should know it would be me," he said. "Completion of such a sale has not been made and I don't know if it ever will be."

2 KILLED IN AKRON
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An American Legion post night manager and a waitress were shot to death in a rooming house here Thursday.

KILLED IN CRASH

HILLSVILLE, Va. (P) — Virginia's first highway fatality of 1959 is a man from Toronto (Jefferson County), Ohio. The victim, James Lee Clar, 32, was killed early Thursday when his car skidded off icy U. S. 58 near this southwest Virginia community.

ON TOP — Frank A. Smith demonstrates the latest racing innovation, a head number on jockeys as an additional means of identifying rider and mount. Smith currently leads the pack at Florida's Tropical Park.

Ohio Highway Deaths Total 4 Since Start of Big Weekend

By The Associated Press

With the new year's holiday weekend more than one - fourth gone, Ohio was establishing a better than average record in keeping its highway deaths to a minimum.

Four persons had died in traffic accidents as the second full day of the holiday began. Only one of these four was killed New Year's Day.

But miscellaneous accidents were claiming even more lives. Fires, drownings, shootings and the like have killed six persons.

Only one double fatality has been reported, and that occurred near Xenia three hours after The Associated Press began tabulating deaths at 6 p.m. Wednesday night. The tabulation continues through midnight Sunday.

Ironically, it also was near Xenia, and in that same county (Greene), that Ohio and the na-
